THURSDAY, OCT. 3, 1895.

In another column of this paper it will be seen that the structure known as the Immigration building is for sale; tenders are invited.

The building in question stands partly on C.P.R. land and partly on town land, and was built by the government. Very well, if the government thinks fit to remove the building, the only one suitable in the town wherein to hold our all-important supreme court, surely that government will think fit also to erect another building that will be equally suitable for the same purpose. In every official report about the country lying in close proximity, and adjacent to, the C.P.R., Qu'Appelle Station is cited as a rising town, full of energy and go, and to have that all-important building removed wherein justice is administered to all who have occasion to seek it, is a crushing and unjust blow to a town that has hitherto done, and is still doing its level best to keep ahead with the times. Surely the government will see fit to set right that which is, as matters stand, not only a great wrong to the rising town of Qu'Appelle, but shortsighted policy in those in authority. If the government and the C.P.R. desire young towns like Qu'Appelle to prosper, they must not throw stumbling blocks in their way.

Qualities of Cream.

Sire managers of creameries have adopted the plan of paying a large amount according to its butter-making qualities, some dissatisfaction has been caused among the patrons by the differences which comparisons have made evident. In most cases the trouble arises from an erroneous idea that the richest cream is the best for butter-making and the most profitable to the patron. It is not the patron who supplies the cream which yields the greatest number of ounces of butter per milk who always of late the largest returns from the milk which has been set. Milk which has been set in deep pails at a high temperature, and has not been cooled below 60 degrees Fahr., will yield a cream very rich in butter-making quality; but there will be a smaller quantity of cream obtained from the milk and a less quantity of butter than where the milk is cooled as low as 40 degrees Fahr. The longer the time cream stands on milk after practically all of it has come to the top, the less space it will occupy. As it shrinks in bulk it becomes richer per inch, but the total quantity of cream from the milk will not yield any more butter than it would have made before it became compact by long standing. (A creamy inch of cream is equal to 113 cubic inches, or to one inch in depth of a cylindrical vessel twelve inches in diameter.) When the milk is skimmed every twelve hours the cream will not yield as many ounces of butter per inch as when it has been at twenty-four hours or longer.

Skimming should not be delayed longer than twenty-four hours after the milk is set. Cream should be removed from the milk before it is sour. Its value to a creamery for butter-making depends not alone upon its richness in butter-fat; purity, sweetness and fine flavor are qualities it should possess.

Spencerville Splashes. (From Our Own Correspondent.)

There was a surprise party at Mr. H. B. Hall's one evening lately. One fair damsel and her escort came in a conveyance made up of wheels, stonebat and willow poles (patent applied for); the rest came on horseback, on foot, in rigs, etc. Dancing and games were indulged in for several hours. Never mind, H.B. doors will shut by accident sometimes. Three rousing cheers were given at parting, and many good wishes expressed, as to the host's trip to distant climes.

Some of our young ladies are very fond of walking, especially if there is a breakdown, and by all accounts are skillful in jumping out of rigs when steeds are balky and wish to stay in town.

A little less rain and wind of medium force would be very acceptable to those who are stacking just now.

The gale of Wednesday, 25th, unroofed the kitchen at Blakeney castle. Luckily no one was home, so no lives were lost.

About Abernethy. (From Our Own Correspondent.)

We are now enjoying fine weather. The farmers who were much retarded in their stacking operations by the frequent showers of the past two weeks, are now making great progress, and this week will see the bulk of the crop in huge dots on the prairie.

A syndicate composed of Messrs. Landerick, Robbins and Evans purchased thirty acres of standing crop from Mr. C. Dickinson, the price, we understand, being $3 per acre. Those gentlemen are now anxiously awaiting the developments of the thresher.

A band of roaming equines passed through the southern part of this settlement on Monday, scattering stocks and committing other depredations on their journey towards the setting sun.

Mr. Fred Evans is to the front as usual, being one of the first to thresh in this vicinity, and has fully sustained his far famed reputation as a producer of No. 1 hard.

Mr. William Hardman, who has been working with Mr. Foster in the suburbs of Lethbridge, is now helping to secure the golden grain in this district.

Sintaluta Sittings. (From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Jas. Cargo met with a nasty accident a few days ago. One of his broncho team struck him with his front foot, and cut his face in a very ugly manner. No serious consequences are feared.

It is the intention of the trustees of the Sintaluta school district to build a brick schoolhouse. The contract is already let to Mr. Castleton, bricklayer.

Mr. Robt. M. Carlin is laid up with a severe attack of pleurisy. We hope to see him around again soon.

Stacking is well advanced, some of the farmers being nearly through. Threshing is well advanced and the wheat is turning out well.

—Messrs W. D. Cowan and W. E. Read, Regina, and F. C. Gilchrist, Fort Qu'Appelle, were in town on Friday.

No-To-Bac sold and guaranteed by C. E. Carthew, Notary Public, Box 100, Sterling Remedy Co., 371 St. Paul St., Montreal.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

"There's a child among 'ya takka' notes, An' faith he'll 'prent 'em."

That one-half of the world does not know how the other half lives is an oft repeated truism, but it would perhaps be rather the mark if we said nine-tenths of us do not know how the other tenth lives, especially in the highly populated towns. Recently, in a large town in England, a poor man and his wife and family were turned out of their home and sought permission to store their furniture, such as it was, in a stable at the back of a public house. The permission was granted, but after a while the landlady discovered that the whole family were in the stable along with their goods; nor was this all, for another family was sharing the space, so that a total of some seventeen people were actually living and sleeping together, children and adults of both sexes and all ages, in a three stall shed which measured some twelve feet by fifteen; there was absolutely no drainage of any kind and no water supply. In this terrible place a woman was actually confined of twins, both dead, and within a few days the woman went out, got wet through, slept in her wet rags and died of pneumonia. There, for the time being, the terrible story ends—a fragmentary incident showing how the poor live—and die.

With Mr. Blakeney's home the wind appears to have been carrying on high jinks, for about a week ago it lifted the entire roof off the kitchen and carried it completely over the main building with seemingly much greater ease than a stronger or more dexterous wrestler would throw his opponent on his back.

A Mr. Mann and a Miss Little were about to be united in wedlock. The bride elect was much taller than is the average height of woman, and a friend of the bridegroom sent him on the wedding morn the two following facetious lines.

Mann wants but Little here below,
But he wants that Little long.

Now's your time for apples, boys, Mc. has a car load right on hand.

If a certain boy persists in such cowardly conduct as to throw a little girl down and cause her to spill three quarts of milk and cut her hand, he will find himself in serious trouble one day.

Look out for the tent near the show building to-morrow, don't give it a mere passing thought but be intent; pay your twenty-five cents and show no quarter to the good things provided.

If children could but know the true value of a mother's love and teaching, how different their bearing would be towards her in many instances. To his mother's teaching there is reason to think the great Sir Walter Raleigh owed that habit of God-fearing and God-loving which he never forgot, whether in the battles at Flanders, in the moments of his greatest discovery, in the glorious success of his public career, or in the terrible hour of his death.

—A Cypress River correspondent writes as follows: On Monday Mr. James Cannon was working his threshing outfit on Dick Dowd's farm. The engine being a straw-burner, a large quantity of that material had been hauled close by and everything was working lovely until some coals from the fire box took a running jump for the straw pile, and before you could say Bob Jackson the engine was enveloped in flames. One of the threshers threw off the large driving belt and drew it out of danger's way, while Billy Cannon, the engineer, with great danger to his pants, mounted the engine and threw it into gear. The engine then made one of the wildest races on record. The engine started across lots at a humming pace, followed by the threshers, teams and teamsters. One man from Ontario, being fleet of foot, succeeded in heading her off, and the engineer watching his chance, ran her into a barb wire fence. She was then stopped and quieted down, with considerable difficulty. It will be two or three days before she will be running again. A vest was consumed in the fire, while a watch and chain in one of the pockets came out blackened by heat and smoke.—Walsley Echo.

The Markets.

Winnipeg Commercial.

Wheat has been moderately strong this week and some advances have been experienced including United States markets, a more bullish speculative feeling having been worked up, though there has been no particular change in the situation. A little excitement was caused by reports of drought in the winter wheat states, which, if confirmed, would damage the autumn sown crops. Damage to the growing Argentine crop was also rumored, this latter feature being a principal cause of the advance. The position of wheat on this continent is strong, if estimates are at all reliable as to crops and stocks, and there can be no doubt but that any general tendency of the farmers in the spring wheat country to hold, would cause a considerable advance. At Duluth No. 1 hard wheat was advanced to a premium of 2¢ over No. 1 Northern. Before the new crop came in No. 1 hard was selling at 45¢ to 46¢ over No. 1 Northern at Duluth. Wheat exports from both coasts of the United States and Canada this week, including flour as wheat, are the largest since last March, being 3,161,000 bushels against 2,528,000 last week.

In Manitoba the movement of new wheat is still backward, owing to unfavorable weather for threshing, and also probably to a disposition among the farmers to hold for higher prices, notwithstanding the fact that prices paid to farmers in Manitoba country markets have been several cents per bushel above an export basis at many points for the choicest samples of wheat. The advance in values to over export prices was due, as described last week, to the action of the millers, who have been holding sharply for the high grade wheat that is moving, but they are not taking the low grade stuff. On the other hand, exporters were not able to buy the high grade wheats at many points, on account of prices being above what they could sell for, and exporters cannot buy wheat on purely speculative basis, especially so early in the season. So long as navigation is open they will have to sell at a loss and even in advance of their purchases, as it is not a time to load up with wheat to carry. The value of low grade wheats has been very uncertain, owing to the irregular condition of the crop and the large proportion of off-grade stuff. Especially was this the case previous to the fixing of the standards, but now that the standards have been fixed, the proportionate value of the low grades will soon be established. The inspection returns of last week show that the movement of new wheat has commenced, by the decrease in change in the returns. There was a large increase in rejected and no grade stuff, and the grades of No. 3 hard and No. 3 northern, which did not appear in last year's crop, have shown up again. There was also two cars of frosted wheat in the returns last week. Previous to last week the movement was mostly old wheat, which was being moved out of country elevators to make room for the new crop, consequently the inspection returns did not show much change in the grades until last week. The amount of wheat in store at Fort William on Saturday last week was 468,000 bushels. Receipts for the week being 422,000 bushels and shipments about 175,000 bushels, freight from Duluth to Buffalo were quoted at 4¢ and 4½¢ to Kingston. Prices have risen about the same as last week in Manitoba country markets, the price to farmers for No. 1 hard ranging from 44¢ to 45¢. Prices for shipment have advanced about 1¢ this week, to a range between 72¢ and 74¢ per bushel for No. 1 hard, about Fort William. The advance today in United States markets brings prices up to a parity with Manitoba country markets.

A report from Montreal says: 41 boxes were received here from London reporting sales of 100,000 bushels of No. 1 hard. Manitoba wheat for September, October, and November delivery at prices which would not give over 60¢ to 61¢ about New York, while millers are paying equal to 60¢ for this grade, or 5½¢ above an export basis, about New York today.

Supreme Court.

Before Mr. Justice Richardson.

Massey-Harris Co. vs. P. Finerman. Mr. Robson for plaintiff; Mr. Smith for defendant.

This is a case in which the above mentioned company sued the defendant for the amount of two lien notes, $50 and $7, with interest accruing on each.

P. Finerman sworn, examined by Mr. Smith: Am the defendant in this case. Had an agreement with Massey-Harris before the beginning of this suit with reference to this claim; nature of the agreement was that if I gave up the wagon I would not have any more to pay on it. I got from him a paper to this effect; have not got the paper now; do not know where it is now. What I did with it I cannot recollect. I did not place much value on it; have looked for it several times since I received this summons. The agreement was that I was freed from all responsibility as regards the wagon if I gave up the wagon. Gave up the wagon on the same day to Mr. McNaughton; did not have the wagon with Mr. McNaughton; told Mr. McNaughton where it was. Did not let Mr. McNaughton have the wagon until he gave up my note; he refused to do this. Was always willing to deliver the wagon on receipt of note ($60). Paid $25 on wagon when purchased; price of wagon was about $85.

Cross-examined by Mr. Robson: Got a paper from Mr. McNaughton; took paper back to Mr. McNaughton; showed it to him; do not know whether or not I gave it to him; do not know what I did with it; took it back because I was told by parties that understood that it was no good; did believe that he had not the authority. Was not satisfied with it; counted the deal off. Have still the wagon.

His Honor here stayed proceedings, and rendered judgment for plaintiff, for amount claimed, with interest and costs.

His Honor remarked that the legislature had abolished the necessity for affidavits verifying matters in dispute, in which he concurred, as formerly very few affidavits had proved to be correct.

RUSSELL VS. BELL.

Robson for plaintiff; Dickson for defence.

This was a case in which the plaintiff claimed $99.75, balance of wages. The defence claimed breach of contract. After the plaintiff and defendant and several witnesses had been examined, His Honor deferred judgment to allow Mr. Dickson to produce authority to substantiate his argument.

Local and General

—Tenders are called for the purchase of the immigration building.
—A full report of the Indian Head fair will be published next week.
—Wood wanted at The Progress Office. This is a chance to pay your subscription.
—Messrs. A. Davidson, Indian Head, and C. Wishart, Winnipeg, were defeated on Sunday.
—A train load of young cattle, twenty-three car loads in all, passed through on Friday on their way to McLeod.
—The Rev. S. Thompson has been appointed to succeed Mr. Ferguson in charge of the Qu'Appelle congregation.
—Our town had a deserted appearance yesterday, many of our townspeople being at the fair at Indian Head.
—Mr. Grigg, Springfield, marketed the first lot of No. 1 hard on Tuesday. S. P. Clark & Co. were the purchasers.
—The S. Qu'Appelle Agricultural Society anticipate a large gathering at their fair to-morrow. The prizes are numerous and good.
—Dr. P. F. Size, Surgeon Dentist of Regina, will be at the Leland Hotel, Qu'Appelle, Oct. 16, for the practice of his profession.
—Judge Richardson, Messrs. Dixie Watson and Robson, Regina, and Mr. Barker, inspector of registry offices, were in town on Tuesday.
—At St. Joseph, near Letellier last week, David Laiselle, lost sixteen stacks of wheat and two stacks of hay by fire. Baptiste Pelletier also lost six stacks of wheat. —Free Press.

—There will be a small bazaar held on the grounds of the Agricultural Soc. Oct. 4th, given by the Women's Guild. The articles to be sold will be chiefly warm and useful and very reasonable.
—A copy of the Emerson Journal, sent at little paper published in the gateway city, has been received and placed on our list of exchanges. We wish the Journal better fortune than journals heretofore published in that town.

—Sergeant Fyffe brought a town on Friday, from Indian Head, a lunatic man J. E. Jackson, committed on evidence before justices of the peace. The unfortunate man had been working for Pete Donald, Wide Awake, and for some time had shown signs of dementia. He was always considered a hard working, quiet man.

—As will be seen on reference to our advertisement columns, Dr. Cowan, dentist, will pay Qu'Appelle a visit on the 9th and 10th inst.

—We have received from the Dry at Press, Toronto, the first issue of "Farming." It has come to hand too late to do it full justice in the current week's "Progress," but we shall speak more fully next week of this magazine that appears, from a mere glance, to be a very excellent one.

—Yesterday afternoon, says the Wolsley Echo, fire was discovered near Mr. Balfour's stable. Had it not been seen in time, with the high wind which prevailed, a large portion of the town might have been destroyed, and the necessity for fire protection of some sort was made apparent.

—An item appeared in last week's Progress stating that a man in Missouri had feet so large that he had to pull his pants on over his head. This item has caused considerable worry to one of our readers, as he is of the opinion that the feat cannot be performed successfully. He has tried it, but so far has only been able to get his head and neck into one leg.

—Mr. Ferguson, who for some months has been in charge of the Presbyterian congregation of Qu'Appelle, preached his farewell sermon on Sunday night to a large audience, the church being crowded. Mr. Ferguson returns to Manitoba college to resume his studies there. His services during his stay in Qu'Appelle have been much appreciated.

—The Winnipeg Tribune is again out with a great offer in connection with The Weekly Tribune. The paper is offered free for the balance of this year, and each subscriber is presented with a beautiful premium picture entitled "The Family Pet." This picture has been painted specially for The Tribune, and is pronounced a work of art. Fuller particulars are given in the advertisement in another column.

—Mr. Hannah, who has been in charge of the Baptist congregation here, left on Monday night for Brandon, to resume his studies. Mr. Hannah while here made many friends, who will watch his career with interest and wish him every success in the field he has chosen. Before leaving, a farewell entertainment was given him by the members and friends of the congregation.
—A telegraph office has been opened at Breshay settlement, near Battleford, with Mr. H. McCleneghan as agent. Mr. McCleneghan was in the government telegraph service at Battleford some years ago, but for some years past has been residing in the east. He is now on his way up with his family to take charge of his office. Mr. McCleneghan is well known in Qu'Appelle, having been here during the rebellion.

—A young married man sat one night in the twilight soliloquizing, and these were his words: Backward, turn backward, oh time in thy flight, feel me on gruel again just for tonight; I am so weary of sole leather steak, petrified doughnuts and vulcanized cake; oysters that sleep in a watery bath, and butter as strong as Goliath of Gath; weary of praying for what I can't eat, chewing rubber and calling it meat. Backward, turn backward, for weary I am! Give me a whack at my grandmother's jam; let me drink milk that has never been skimmed; let me eat butter whose hair has been trimmed; let me once more have an old fashioned pie, and then I'll be willing to curl up and die. The talented author is unknown.

—Eddie Bray met with quite a serious accident on Saturday morning. He had turned one horse loose to go with the herd, leaving the other one in the stable. The loose horse did not want to go away, and turned to enter the stable, when he struck it to start it up, and the horse kicked at him, striking him on the forehead and leaving the mark of its hoof on his face. The wound extended from the centre of the forehead down and across the left eye, cutting the eyelid, but fortunately the sight is not injured, so far as can be learned yet. Dr. Elliott was summoned, and dressed the wound, which required twelve stitches to close it up. However we are pleased to see that he is rapidly recovering from the effect of the accident, and is already able to attend customers again. —Wolsley Echo.

—On Friday night just as the east-bound train was to pull out, a peculiar noise was heard in the cool box, under the baggage car. Conductor Leach opened the box, and discovered three tramps snugly stowed away in the box. They were taken in charge by Constable Hookin, and brought before Mr. A. Sutherland, J. P. On being examined they stated that they had ridden all the way from the coast, and that they were on their way to the harvest fields to procure work. Mr. Sutherland sentenced them to ten days in Regina jail, where they went Saturday morning. —Wolsley Echo.

—The October number of the Colonist is more than usually interesting. It devotes a large number of its pages to Winnipeg and its surroundings, giving a map of the country which embraces a twenty mile radius from the city; the object of the map is to show the large amount of vacant lands within so short a distance of the prairie metropolis, and this is effectively done by depicting these vacant lands in red. A short story, such as is given with the last issue of the Colonist, cannot but prove interesting and acceptable to its many readers; the story is well told and is emphatically Manitoban, which will doubtless give it an extra relish with Canadians. As a specimen of periodical literature, the October number of the Colonist would be a creditable production for a much older and densely populated country than Manitoba.

—On Friday night last, at the house of Mr. Jas. McEwen, the Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church gave a farewell social in honor of Mr. Ferguson, the Presbyterian missionary here, who was about to leave to resume his duties as a student in Manitoba college. Early in the evening the house was comfortably filled, but as there was, until a late hour, no cessation in the string of arrivals, it soon became packed. A considerable variety of games had been provided for the amusement of the guests, consequently everyone thoroughly enjoyed this part of the evening's entertainment. Perhaps not the least enjoyable part of the programme was the repast, and such a repast! The tables fairly groaned under their loads of delectable dainties, and the ladies of the congregation may rest assured that their efforts in this direction were most highly appreciated. After the demands of the inner man had been fully satisfied, the guests again repaired to the drawing room and amused themselves in various ways until a late hour, when the singing of Auld Lang Syne brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

—The trials of a belated commercial traveller on Monday evening furnished considerable amusement for the small boys (and some larger ones). It appears that he had been to Ellsboro, and arrived in town again just as No. 2 was about to start. After purchasing his ticket, he saw the train starting from the side track, where Lieut. Governor Chaplenn's private car had been left off, and jumped on the rear platform of the private car. He soon discovered his mistake, however, and got off again; in the meantime the train had gone some distance, and was already at the switch. He started off after it, carrying his valise and other parcels but had not gone far before he was overtaken by Mr. A. McEwen, who relieved him of his valise, and, by making some very fast time succeeded in getting the valise on the platform of the sleeper. The traveller, however, who appeared to be rather out of training, soon saw that there was no hope of catching her, and returned to the station. He was met at the end of the platform by an interested crowd of spectators. Nothing daunted at being left, the traveler announced his intention of starting to walk to Grenfell, a distance of sixteen miles, and actually started off that night, reaching Grenfell probably sometime in the early morning. —Wolsley Echo.

Directions to Correspondents.

1. Be brief and to the point. Life is short, and please remember we wish to give our correspondents a show.
2. Write plainly and only on one side of paper. This will prevent you (unintentionally) sending the compositor to the "devil."
3. As time is hard only use one cent stamp; do not seal the envelope, but just turn in the flap.
4. When you are out of paper and envelopes write for more.
5. Write as often as you can — once a week any way; mail so that we may receive copy not later than Monday night or Tuesday morning.
6. Send nothing but news. Unfounded gossip cannot be admitted to the columns of the paper. If anything happens in your vicinity, such as a birth, marriage, death, accident, school or church event, or arrival of visitors at your home or your neighbors, in fact anything of local interest, send it to The Progress. If you are not accustomed to write for the press we will review it.
7. Connected with the office is a good job printing department and any orders can be placed to read in will receive prompt attention.

Law Regarding Newspapers.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether it is a matter of law or not, is responsible for payment.
2. If any person orders a paper and discontinues it, he must pay up all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscription, the suit may be instituted in the place where the paper is published, or where the subscriber resides, or where the paper is taken from the office or not.
4. The courts have decided that refusing newspapers or periodicals from the post office or removing or leaving them uncollected for some months, is prima facie evidence of intentional refusal.

Besides this great offer the publisher is presenting every subscriber for the coming year with a magnificent premium picture entitled

"THE FAMILY PETS."

This picture has been painted specially for the Tribune by one of the best lithographic artists in Canada and would sell in the open market for more than the amount asked for both the paper and the picture. It is a work of art that will adorn the walls of any drawing room. It can be obtained only by subscription to The Winnipeg Tribune. It will be ready for distribution about the beginning of November and will be sent to subscribers in the order in which subscriptions are received.

The Weekly

Nor'-Wester

TILL 1896 FOR $1.00.

The favor with which the Nor'-Wester, as evidenced by the manner in which it has fairly leaped into circulation, has been received, is something almost unprecedented in the world's history of journalism.

"INDEPENDENT—NOT NEUTRAL," is the motto of the Nor'-Wester. It is not the organ of any political party or business enterprise; but it is a journal always free to expose, criticize or commend the cause or contention of any party or organization—political, commercial or otherwise—as fairly to the Northwest may, upon dispassionate and intelligent consideration, seem to demand.

At the price the Weekly Nor'-Wester is offered to new subscribers—One Dollar from any time hereafter till January 1st, 1896—but the merest fraction over the cost of the white paper used in it is asked. It is the largest Weekly paper published in Canada.

In subscribing, simply write name and post office on a piece of paper and enclose it and ONE DOLLAR in an envelope addressed
